Notes

REIGN OF NAWAB OF BENGAL:

Q1. Nawab Siraj-ud-Daula - Mir Jafar:

- he began the Nawab rule of Bengal
- initially he was appointed as subedar
- he established a settled administration system in Bengal ~~area~~ and brought peace when the Mughal Empire was becoming unsettled.
- he improved the revenue administration of Bengal, to such extent that illegal sources of income of subedars were cut-off
- Murshidabad became capital under his reign
- founded the zamindari system
- Internally, textile business flourished, and in terms of foreign trade, bullion and metals were imported and clothes exported
- Bengal prospered economically
- administration was stable

Sequence of Nawabs:

- Shuja-ud-Din (not son of Muzshid Quli)
- Sarfaraz Khan (son of Shuja-ud-Din)
- Alivardi Khan (cousin of Sarfaraz Khan)
 - Marathas attacked a lot for invasion (almost 10 years) but lost
 - used to give money to Peshwa to prevent Maratha invasion
 - despite political problems, Bengal prospered due to trade
- Siraj-ud-Doula (grandson of Alivardi Khan)

—x—

Q2 Siraj-ud-Doula:

- last independent Nawab (Mirz Asim)
- he had 3 enemies
 - aunt Chashti Begum, wanted Alivardi to succeed the throne as she was older than Siraj's mother (distributed funds to those who joined her)

→ his cousin Shaukat Jang, nawab of Purnea

→ British in Calcutta

→ greatest enemy: Mirz Jafar, Command-in-chief

→ he held his ^{Wahab Begum} aunt into custody, destroyed English factory, and killed Shaukat Jang

→ made his over-confident and arrogant

→ Nawab's advisors warned him not to maintain hostilities with British (but he didn't pay heed)

-x-x-

17th Battle of Plassey:-

→ 23rd June (1757)

→ Causes of failure:

→ Mir Jafar's army didn't take part, hence army wasn't united

→ a monsoon shower damped Bengal army's ammunition, army was unprepared ✓

→ Mir Jafar appeared to Mir Jafar to lead army at the point when they were winning due to (Hohum)

Under Mir Jafar's advice, Siraj advised Mohanlal to stop fighting

Unlike Siraj's army, which was unprepared, became Siraj's army inexperienced.

→ The British army was led by Robert Clive, who was a skilled commander

→ Impacts/Consequences:-

- Mughal rule ended, British rule began
- EIC took control of Bengal, one of the richest province of India
- British expanded control to other parts
- Mir Jafar was made a puppet Nawab of British
- Indian economy disrupted since British imposed tax
- British began to interfere in Indian customs & traditions

-X-X-

Causes of Battle of Plassey:-

- ① British were misusing their trade privileges
- ② British fortified their settlements without Nawab's permission
- ③ British refused to hand over Krishnadas (Nawab's envoy-traitor), insulted his officer. Siraj got angered, attacked Calcutta.

3) Mir Qasim :

- wanted to rule / not reign
- he became nawab due to a secret treaty betⁿ him and British
- shifted capital from Muzshidabad to Munger (Bihar)

-x-x-

4) Battle of Buxar :

- 22 October, 1764 (7 years later after Plassey) ¹⁷⁵⁷
- Nawab of Oudh Shuja-ud-daula and Mir Qasim and Emperor Shah Alam II (both were under protection of Shuja-ud-daula) Vs British army
- Aim was to recover Bengal ~~for~~ for Mir Qasim
- ^{causes} Misunderstanding developed between the two, as Shuja became arrogant and ill-treated him for failure to provide sufficient funds
- The combined Mughal army was defeated by the super strategy, equipment and motivation of British forces (they were military skilled)

→ Impacts:

- laid a strong foundation of British EIC in Bengal i.e., India
- was a battle in true sense, unlike Battle of Plassey which was a puppet show.
- Ended Nawabi rule, with Mir Jafar becoming last independent Nawab
- Mir Jafar was re-throned back, but due to treaty, British EIC ~~didn't~~ pay any tax in return of trade
- English assumed power of administration

— x — x —

Era of Robert Clive

- Clive returned to Bengal in 1765 (stayed for 2 years)

• established dual administration system

Diwan

Nizamat

Diwani rights / revenue

→ Diwan: ~~was~~ head of revenue & finance

later failed

→ Nizamat head of civil & criminal administration, ~~he~~ had judicial powers
(Nawabs)

→ he ~~was~~ was granted ~~the~~ ^{Diwani} Dewani to company from Shah Alam II, which laid the foundation of British rule

→ he returned to ~~England~~ England with allegations of corruption and bribery, and thus committed ~~suicide~~ suicide. Great Bengal Famine (1769-70)
Also added to ~~open~~ -x-x-

Era of Warren Hastings:-

→ ruled from 1772-85

→ first governor general of Bengal (after Regulating Act of 1773)

→ implemented many economic reforms, all failed
-x-x-

↳ The Great Bengal Famine (1769-1770) → 5 years later after Battle of Orissa

→ (consequence of EIC rule to Bengal) (dual administrative system)

Ques

→ Causes of the Famine:-

→ tax policy of British = farmers will pay 50% of the produce of agricultural goods

→ farmers were forced to harvest cash crops like indigo and opium, destroyed lands and led to shortage of grains for people

→ severe drought occurred which was ignored by the Company

→ Company kept collecting tax by increasing its rate from farmers who could pay to make up for loss

↳ resources produced (agricultural goods) were shifted to England drained

-x-x-

→ Impacts of famine:-

→ 10 million people died

→ large lands were depopulated, many agricultural

✓ lands became jungles for many years

→ EIC was forced to provide good govt. through

✓ Act of Parliament in (1773)

→ British govt. ~~took~~ take direct control,

(Imp) ✓ appointed ^{each} Governor-General for 3 presidencies

→ (EIC) lost its administrative powers

✓ paved path for 150 years of British rule

-x-x-

④ Permanent Settlement Act of 1793:

(Agreement) between British EIC and Zamindars to fix (land) revenue

Robert Clive & Warren Hastings (experimental economic reforms) destroyed revenue

- Lord Cornwallis introduced this system
(Governor General)
- Landlords were recognised as owners of ✓ lands under them
- ✓ amount to be paid was fixed (permanent) (10/11)
- tax collection system reformed

also Merits	Demerits
→ responsibility of taking care of farmers fell on landlords, they could reach far corners of region and understand local customs → sense of security since it was permanent → zamindars ^{would} took interest to improve land → strengthened British administration	→ depended on efficiency of zamindars (they were not interested) → created class of hereditary landlords, very ^{high} hierarchy system also introduced → interest of peasants were not considered, and they became helpless ^{oppressed} → peasants didn't have any right, oppressed → cash cropping increased

Colonial Conflicts of British Period

Fakir-Sanyasi Movement: (1760-1790)

→ Fakir/Sanyasis = groups of religious people who lived on alms & provided by their followers.

→ Spark of the movement:

The British banned the collections of alms by Fakirs and Sanyasis.

→ Other causes of the movement:

→ The land revenue policies of British EIC led to widespread economic hardships among the peasants (tax, poverty, indebtedness)

→ Calamity of the famine (1770)

→ Group won support from peasants and local villages mostly.

→ Led by :

→ Majnu Shah : Fakir who led rebellion in Bengal and Bihar

→ Bhabani Pathak : Sanyasi who led rebellion in Odisha

→ Tactics used by the Fakir/Sanyasi rebels:

→ Guerilla warfare = attack on British forces in small mobile groups, and then disappear

→ Targeted zamindars loyal to British

→ fed information by local villages about next movement of British troops

→ Sabotage - carried out numerous base attacks on Rangoon, Rajshahi, Comilla, etc

→ Decline of the movement :

→ 8th December (1786) the rebels engaged in a pitch battle, lost all their personnel

→ Majnu Shah died, movement lost its direction. (By 1790s, came to an end)

→ x → x →

Titu-Meen Movement (1831) :

- religious, localised short-lived movement
- Titu Meen wanted to improve the position of Islam in Bengal
- Causes of the movement:
 - Titu Meen was worried, he thought Muslims were losing their faith
 - Disturbed by the inhuman way zamindars treated cultivators
- Spark of the movement:

Rebellion was initially against the ZAMINDARS

a Hindu zamindar, Krishna deva Rai, put a beard tax on Muslims

→ Tactics used during the movement:-

- formed a makeshift army and trained it in use of lathi, and other indigenous arms

→ built a strong fort with bamboo fort, gave mujahids military training

→ Led by:

→ Titu Meer

→ Kuhlan Masum = commander (nephew) of army

→ Success of the movement: { So that it was short-lived, success was achieved }

→ Zamindars took help from British against Titu Meer. Davis sent an army which was defeated by him, a Hindu Zamindar killed.

→ Alexander, collector of Barrasat, advanced against ~~Barrasat~~ ^{Titu Meer} and got defeated.

→ established control over 24 Pargana districts, Nadia, Faridpur. (declared himself king)

→ demanded taxes from Hindu Zamindars.

→ Decline of the movement:-

→ Lord William Bentinck sent an army, huge Cavalry ⁽¹⁰⁰⁾ and infantry (300), artillery

(14 November, 1831)

→ burned down the fort

→ Ghulam Masum was sentenced to death along with others.

-x-x-

→ Karai Zi Movement (1937):-

→ It was a religious and social reform movement.
(unlike Titu Meen, which was violent)

→ Causes of the movement:-

→ wanted to remove some Hindu practices which were considered to be Muslim worship. (reform Islam)

→ protect the peasants from exploitation of zamindars

→ thought British wanted to promote Christianity

→ Led by:

→ Haji Shariatullah

→ Dudu Miyan: his son

→ Tactics by the groups:-

completely non-violent movement

→ objected not to pay illegal taxes

→ do not adhere to ban of slaughtering
✓ of cows

→ preaching and teaching their message
✓ across Bengal

→ Decline of the movement:-

→ Campaigns against Shariatullah by the landlords - claimed he wanted to ~~be~~ make his kingdom like Titumeen

→ lost mobility and direction over time, lacked spirit.

→ Impact of the movement:-

→ brought a spiritual revival, ^{of} Islam

→ encouraged the Muslim peasants at a time when they were oppressed by Hindu + Brahmin

→ Political/Economic impact = peasants became united, became aware of their rights.

—X—

→ The Great Santal Rebellion (1849-50): -

→ It was a highly organised armed movement of Santals against Zamindars/~~peasants~~ moneylenders.

→ Causes of the movement:-

→ Land taken away

→ Social/Economic oppression

→ Debt/oppression by moneylenders
(mahajans)

→ Spark of the movement:-

Leader of Santals, Birz Singh, was mercilessly beaten and confined in chains in front of his followers.

→ Tactics used :-

→ guerilla fighting ;

→ used bows and arrows

→ Success made during the rebellion:-

- payment of rent to zamindars, and interest to moneylenders stopped
- railway communication destroyed
- defeated military expedition

→ Led by:-

→ Bidhu Murmu and his brothers

→ Decline of the movement:-

- didn't have support from majority Indian population, lacked unity and coordination

-X-X-

The Sepoy Mutiny / First war of Independence (1857) :-

→ Causes of the movement :-

Political	Economic	Religious / Social	Military
→ all Indian states were annexed, formed treaty with EIC under humiliating conditions → In 1852, Doctrine of Lapse was introduced (Dalhousie). No prince felt secured → Mughal Emperor was being disrespected.	→ land holding classes lost their lands → Zamindars lost social status → Excessive taxation ruined peasants	→ British culture spread, considered it a "superior" culture → introduced telegraph, Railway English education system → Christianity was taught → "Sati" was banned, widow re-marriage introduced - created resentment	→ salaries of army was very low, no promotion → new Cartridges of Enfield Rifle were greased with fat of cows and pigs ↓ hastened the Revolt

→ Events of the war:-

→ created serious tension in Bangladesh

→ prisoners were released

→ Magazine house fired up, treasury ransacked, ammunition / arms stolen.

→ military was sent to stop rebellion

→ most fugitives / leaders were trialled / sentenced to death

→ Led by:-

→ Mangal Pandey

→ Decline of the Revolt:-

→ lack of unity:- lower class / middle class were least interested

→ British strengths

— Impact of the revolt. —

- British EIC lost their control, British crown takes over, for another 100 years of rule
- Muslims lost their influence, were held responsible for the revolt. Thus it had a long-term effect on Muslim community.

—X—X—

Indigo Movement (1859-1862):

- Indigo prodⁿ was very profitable/booming export
- Causes of movement:-
 - British forced peasants to grow indigo on their land at a very low price.
 - profit from prodⁿ became uneconomical at Rayat (peasant level)
 - Political grievances: indigo planters had close ties to British govt, thus peasants had no legal recourse

→ Tactics used for the movement:-

→ Refusal to grow indigo and destroy indigo land

→ boycott British goods, which resulted in decline of British trade

→ attack on British indigo ~~farm~~ planters

→ Led mostly by peasants (Digambar Biswas)

→ Impact of the movement:-

→ British govt. took action, passed law that protected farmers from abuse

→ British forced to offer peasants higher prices for their indigo

→ gave rise to peasant awareness.

- Founded by Sir Syed Ahmed Khan
- promote western/modern education to Muslims in India
- Raised the awareness of the importance of education for Muslims
- Played an integral role for formation of Muslim League (1906)

-x-x-

Indian Council Act of 1892 :

- ~~but~~ colonial/British govt realised rise of nationalism could not be contained (because of education)
- also known as ~~Montagu-Minto~~ Montley-Minto Reform
- The Act increased the number of members in legislative council (included more Indians)
- increased power of non-official members of the council
- created a Central legislative Council, which was all India legislative Council was a political reform that had significant impact on development of Indian nationalism.

First Partition of Bengal, 1905:-

- took place on October 16th, 1905, by Lord Curzon
- Reasons for the partition are:-

→ British govt. wanted to weaken the

- ① Indian nationalist movement (already Indian Congress was formed)

→ efficient administration Bengal (35 million)

→ implement "divide and rule" policy to

- ③ ensure two groups don't get together to form anti-colonial movement
- ④ → wanted to please Muslim community (development)

→ Reaction of the two groups:

Hindu	Muslims
→ didn't show any support → feared competition with Muslims → suffered economic loss as export of jute and tea will go through Chittagong port (objective of British) → started protest	→ were happy → they would get economically benefitted → job opportunities would be created → Their presence would get importance, like the Hindus

- x x -

Swadeshi Movement:

- boycott British goods, use local goods
- put economic pressure to force British to undo partition
- promote Indian industry

→ Common people took part

→ washerman of Kalighat

→ cobblers of Faridpur

→ cigarettes, other goods, were burnt

-x-x-

Q Bengal Terrorism / Political Assassination.

→ political assassination was the last resort

→ publicly displayed violence against British individuals

→ revolutionary heroes = Khudiram Basu, Surendra Sen

-x-x-

Q The Simla Deputation, 1906.

→ a deputation of prominent Muslims lead by Aga Khan wanted that their position should not be determined by numerical strength but in respect to political importance of their community to the Empire

→ In all local/provincial elections, Muslims should have their own representatives, and their Muslim voters

-X-X-

Formation of Muslim League, 1905 :-

→ Muslims thought to have their own political party because of :-

→ even ~~though~~ ^{after} Simla Deputation and Partition, Muslims thought it lacked influence like Hindus

→ to tackle outrage of Hindus because of the partition

→ Objectives of Muslim League are:

→ protect/advance the political rights of Muslims

→ promote feelings of loyalty to British govt.

→ represent Muslim needs/aspirations to govt.

→ The British welcomed the formation of Muslim League

-X-X-

EMB notes:

BRITISH RAJ : 1906-1947

Annulment of Bengal Partition, 1911:-

- Majority of elite Hindu wanted, safe for British since Hindu was majority
- Royal classes were also against it
- Arrival of King George V in India
-x-x-

Lucknow Pact, 1916:-

- Failure of British to grant more rights to Indians even after their contributions to First World War caused this Pact

Muslim League & Congress

- ~~Some~~ Congress agreed for right of Muslims to represent in imperial/provincial Legislative Councils
- First time Hindu Muslims came together for political reform → It ^{marked} ~~marked~~ Hindu-Muslim unity

Montagu - Chelmsford Reforms, 1919:

- a disappointing attempt to include Indians in administration
- It suggested that ~~separate~~ a new elected Legislative Assembly with separate electorate for Muslims and Sikhs
- Under ~~this~~ this Reform, a new system, Dyarchy was introduced.
- Dyarchy had system of responsibilities divided into two lists = reserved and transferred subject.
(Principal Governor)
Executive Council
(Legislative Councils)
Indians
- It was not welcomed by Indians, since they thought they deserved more especially after the first world war (contribution)
- Congress said reforms were inadequate, disappointing.

-x-x-

Khilafat movement, 1920:

- Islamic political campaign by Indian Muslims in British India over British policy against Turkey (Treaty of Sèvres) → a Turkey empire must be split up
- Led by Shaukat Ali
- Support of Mohandas Gandhi, who saw it as an opportunity to unite Hindu-Muslim, (Swadeshi spirit)
- It involved:
 - boycott British goods
 - withdraw children from govt. schools
 - resigning from seats in local bodies
- British were highly embarrassed when Prince of Wales (royal prince) were greeted with demonstration and strikes
- Led to widespread arrest
- united Hindu-Muslims for short time

→ However, the movement declined for: ~~the fall~~

→ ~~the fall~~ ^{Khilafat} was a ~~fall~~ abolition by Turkish govt. weakened the cause

→ Chauri-Chaura village incident; Indian protestors killed British policemen.

Gandhi was terrified because of violence,
and called off this non-cooperation movement,

which was linked to Khilafat movement
^{Hindus (Gandhi)} ^{Muslims}

→ Gandhi's decision upset Congress, Muslim Leaders, which also weakened Hindu-Muslim unity.

-x-x-
B Bengal Pact, 1923:

→ Led by C.R. Das, a final attempt to revive
Hindu-Muslim unity

→ Some of the key provisions were:

✓ Hindu-Muslim ministers should be in ✓ 50-50 ratio in Bengal cabinet.

→ reserve seats for Hindu/Muslims according

- to their population
- not allow music in front of mosque
- Important since Hindu-Muslims came together to form a political ~~govt~~ agreement
- British didn't welcome, since they feared it would strength Indian nationalist movement
- Premature death of C.R. Das in 1925 ~~and~~ ultimately led to its decline.

-x-x-

④ Simon Commission, (1927):

- a commission of 7 British MPs sent to study Indian constitutions and recommend reforms
- No Indians were present, which angered Indians.
- The report was boycotted
- strengthened Indian nationalist movement, led to formation of Nehru Report, which ~~was~~ called for Dominion status of India (India would be independent)

 - 3rd Round T.C: poor attendance
- x—x—

The Government of India Act, 1935:

- marked reforms to Indian Constitution, passed by British Parliament in 1935
- Some of the key features are:
 - abolition of diarchy, introduction of govt
 - safeguards minorities

→ separate Burma in 1937

→ It didn't work because:-

→ limited self-rule was given

→ the Governor General was ~~head~~ head, who could exert Real power

→ allowed only 25% of Indians to vote

→ The Act was unwelcome, but still participated in 1937 elections.

-x-x-

④ Elections of 1937:-

KPP: 36

Congress: 52 → Congress rule began

Muslim League: 39

-x-x-

④ Second World War, 1939:-

→ Britain was at war with Germany, ~~and~~ announced, India was also at war with Germany

-x-x-

→ Reactions of Congress and Muslim League:-

Congress	Muslim League
→ will not support unless India was granted full independence → disapproved Nazism, Fascism → resigned from govt. of Delwar Hussain	→ said will support if any law will not be passed unless 2/3 Muslims supported → Congress should agree to form coalitions.

Q3 Lahore Resolution; 1940:

- After 2 years of Congress rule, Jinnah realised it was important to establish Muslim state.
- proposed his idea at a conference in 1940, which was passed unanimously.

—X—X—

Cripps Mission, 1941:

→ It was a failed attempt to include Indians in World War II

→ included promise for full self-govt. for India, as well constitution ~~of~~ of assembly ~~to~~ to draft a new constitution

→ Congress rejected it because it didn't promise immediate ~~real~~ independence

→ Muslim League rejected because it didn't provide a separate Muslim state

→ showed British the strength of Indian nationalism

→ also deepened divisions between Congress & M.L.

-x-x-

Quit India Resolution, 1942:

→ passed by Congress for immediate independence from British rule

→ Congress was banned, Gandhi was arrested

- Spread throughout India, millions participated in mass strikes, protests, boycotts.
- British were unable to contain this movement, was eventually forced to negotiate with Congress.
- Muslim League didn't approve, thought it as a mean to drive British out to gain full control of India.

Reaction of M.L. to Quit India Resolutions

Famine of 1943:-

→ The causes were:

Man-made Famine

- Huge drought
- British policies to store food and sell at high price
- food supply from Burma was cut off

→ the impacts are:-

- almost 150,000 died
 - Fazlul Haq resigned from post of P.M
 - Conflict between Hindu/Muslim ministers
- x-x-

- Led by 3 members of British cabinet
- called for 3-tier administrative structure in India
 - Union of India (Hindu Majority States)
 - Muslim Majority States
 - Bengal and Assam

→ Reaction of Cabinet Mission Plan
→ Muslim League rejected because it demanded a separate state of Pakistan

→ showed British govt. was serious about transferring power to independent India

→ Paved the path of partition, 1947

→ Direct Action Day, 1946:

16th Dec 1946

→ M.L. feared British would leave India to sort out its own problems, then Muslims would suffer at hands of Hindu majority

→ Called for Direct Action Day to show strength of Muslim feelings

→ Lots of demonstrations

-x-x-

→ & Mount Batten Plan, June 1947:

→ Two states should be set up, India & Pakistan, each will have their own Dominion status and Constituent Assembly.

2nd Partition of Bengal:-

- took place on 15th August, 1947
- Created ~~the~~ a huge refugee crisis
- political tension and mistrust of pre-independence period grew serious

Note for Midterm Examination:

Gandhi vs Bose:-

Gandhi was a complicated and multifaceted figures.

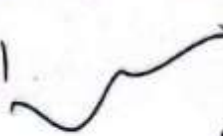

He was a champion of non-violence and social justice.

→ He was a strong advocate of non-violence, he saw that as a means to achieve social and political change. He used non-violence methods like Civil Disobedience, and Satyagraha to fight.

→ In 1920, he led Non-Cooperation movement, which was mass civil disobedience against British.

→ In 1942, Quit India Resolution/Movement

→ also went on fast in 1947 to protest against communal violence that erupted during partition of Bengal.  some of the ways in which Gandhi brought change to using non-violent methods.

→ Gandhi had some views which received criticism, and which seemed contradictory.

→ Casteism: Gandhi was born high-caste Hindu family and he believed that caste system was a Natural order of things and people should accept their place in society.

- Racism = Gandhi was racist in early life. In 1893, he wrote an article in which he argued that white people in South Africa were "predominant Race", and black people were "troublesome", very dirty, and like like animals."

-x-x-

Subhas Chandra Bose

- Subhas Chandra Bose believed that violence was necessary to achieve independence from British rule.
- he founded the Indian National Army (INA), a volunteer army that fought against the British in WWII. (in 1942)
- worked with Japanese to achieve independence
- believed military force is required to fight against British.

-x-x-

Conflict between Gandhi and Bose.

- They both disagreed on best way to achieve independence.
- Bose resigned from Congress, because he ^{didn't} ~~wasn't~~ ~~didn't~~ want Indians to support British in WWII. But Gandhi said army must support British in order to defeat Fascism.
- Gandhi ^{didn't} ~~saw~~ Chauri-Chaura incident as sign of growing anger ~~of~~ and frustration of Indian army. Called it off. Bose saw it, and argued British govt would only understand power of Indian people if they were willing to use violence. (Chest of Bose)
- Bose said ("Gandhi's methods are too slow and ineffective. We need to resort to violence to achieve independence")
- Gandhi's methods were too slow, ineffective elitist and too impractical.

Bengal Renaissance:

- Raja Ram Mohan Roy
 - De Rozio
 - spread of western education
 - growth of independent press (Bengal Gazette)
 - isolated ripples among Muslim community.
(Muslim awakening)

It was a period of great intellectual and cultural ferment in the Bengal region of British rule. It was a time of great social/religious reform.

Raja Ram Mohan Roy:-

- He founded the Brahmo Samaj, a religious movement that challenged traditional Hindu practices such as sati. The Brahmo Samaj promoted rationalism, social justice.
- JKS JAT 51

- He translated Vedas and Upanishads ^{in English} which introduced Indian philosophy to Western world.
- He wrote extensively on religion, social reform and Education
- He founded the Hindu College in 1817, which was the first modern educational institution in India, it offered a secular education that combined Eastern and Western subjects.

Rabindranath Tagore:- (zero)

He was a British born Indian teacher, and poet who is considered to be pioneers of Bengal Renaissance.

- He promoted rationalism and free thinking. He encouraged his students to question everything. His teachings created generation of young Bengali who were critical thinkers and were open to new ideas.

Growth of ~~the~~ Independent press:

→ Independent press was not beholder to British Govt, or traditional hindu authorities. This gave freedom to publish articles and books that challenged status quo.

→ Sambad Prabhakara: Founded by Lshwan Chandya Vidyasagar, and was known for its progressive views of religion, politics and society. Other prominent writers also wrote.

→ Amrita Bazar Patrika: Founded in 1861 and became a leading voice for nationalism. Published articles and essays that criticized British colonial rule and promoted case of independence.

→ promoted literacy, education, cultural awareness and pride.
