

Janapadas

According to the later Vedic literature the ancientjanapadas(400BC-600AD) were named after the non–Aryan ethnic groups who inhabited the areas

Janapadas	Areas
Pundravardhan	Dinajpur, Bogra
Varendra	Rajshahi
Vanga	Dhaka, Tangail
Vangal	Barisal, Coastal Areas
Samatata	Comilla, Noakhali
Harikela	Chittagong, Sylhet
Gauda	Chapainawabganj

Importance of the Himalaya

- Bangladesh is the flattened out land of Himalaya
- Himalaya control the annual rainfall and protects the cold wind from the north
- Almost all rivers of Bangladesh came down from the Himalaya

Pre Aryan people

- Proto-Australoid- came in 50000 BC from Africa
- Mongloid-Chakma(trival). They aren't mixed with others
- Dravidian-very creative

The Aryan people

Aryan people influenced in ancient India came to be felt in the north-western parts and it took a long time for the Aryan to reach the eastern limits of the subcontinent. Aryan people started to aryanise form the western side and it took about one thousand years to aryanise the whole of Bengal.

- ✓ Aryan people claimed that the people of Bengal were barbarians as they had no particular culture [Vedic literature]

Contribution

- Brought language(Sanskrit)
- Brought iron
- Divided the society into classes

Invalidity of the Arvan idea

The discoveries at “pandu rajar dibi” in the valley of the Ajay river in the Burdwan district and in several other sites on the Ajay, Kunar and Kopai have thrown fresh light on Bengal’s pre history. “pandu rajar dhibi” represents the ruins of trading township, which carried on trade not only with the interior regions of India, but also with the countries of the Mediterranean world.

Era of Maurva [3rd century B.C]

Invention of the empire

From a Brahmi script found in excavation in the site of the pundranagar(now at Mahasthana in Bogra.

Contribution for the society[from fragmentary Bami inscription]

The administration used to give relief such as paddy and money to the people during the time of calamities caused by nature and collect the distributed amount of paddy and money when good days returned.

Culture

- Cotton fabric of Vanga(south eastern Bengal)
- Muslin of Bengal
- Terracotta plaques(pandu rajar dhibi)

The Gupta rule

Capital : Ganga

Impotrant ruler :

- Samudragupta
- Chandragupta 2

Samudragupta

- Most independent states came under Samudragupta’s rule

Chandragupta 2

- Consolidated their possessions in the east
- Wars against the Vangas

Contribution

- Established an administration in the Bengal in which the participation of the local people was ensured.
- Bengal was an important province and the period of Guptas was considered to be the golden age of Indian history
- India was under a strong benevolent central government, which brought peace, wealth and prosperity.
- Bengal enjoyed the benefit of being a part of the All Indian Empire.

- Trade and commerce was very strong. Found many large number of gupta coins.
 - Religiously tolerable.
- They were Brahmanism but they patronized Buddhism and Jainism.

Culture

- Terracotta
- Sculptural art

fall of the Gupta empire

- South and east Bengal shook off the suzerainty of the Gupta and attained importance as an independent kingdom under local ruler
- Kingdom of Gauda emerged under the later guptas. But the Gauda emerged as an independent kingdom under Sasanka and Magadha.

Sasanka[1st independent king of Bengal]

Rise of the empire

- Kingdom of Gauda [recently under Gupta empire] emerged under Sasanka and Magadha
- Gradually extended his suzerainty over territories far beyond the wall

Capital: Karnasuvarna identified with Rangamati located six mile southwest of Baharampur in the Murshidabad district of Indian west Bengal.

Religion: Staunch Shaivite

Nature: racist.

Against : Buddhist.

Evidence: Hsuen Tsang [Chinese Buddhist pilgrim]

Activity: vandalism and enmity against Buddhists.

- ✓ Hsuen Tsang was a good friend of Harshavardhana. So it might be fake.

Achievement of the Sasanka

- Occupied an important place
- Extend suzerainty over territories far beyond the geographical boundaries of the province.
- Attempted at establishing a north Indian empire
- Could hold own and the independence of the Gaudha empire against a very powerful enemy named Harshavardhana.
- Have ventured into northern Indian politics.
- Made himself master of western and northern Bengal.

Matsyanyayam/Dark age

A situation of complete lawlessness which was arrived from the absence of strong ruling power capable of enforcing law and order is known as Matsyanyayam. It started after the death of Sasanka and lasted from 650 to 750 AD.

After death of Sasanka hundred years of lawlessness ended by Gopala known as dark age or known as Matsyanyayam.

The Pala Dynasty

Founder : Gopala

Time: 8th century A.D

Area: Bengal

Runtime: 400 years(18 generation)

Religion: Buddhist. Founded Vikramasila monastery and Somapura Mahavihara(largest Buddhist monastery) at Paharpur

Important ruler:

- Dharmapala
- Devapala
- Mahipala I (2nd founder)
- Rampala (last ruler)

Dharmapala

- Pala were powerful enough
- Involved in a tripartite struggle with Gurjara Pratiharas and Rashtrakutas
- Pala empire extended beyond the boundaries of Bengal and Bihar as far as Kanauj.

Devapala [son of Dharmapala]

- Gurjara Pratiharas succeeded in establishing their empire over Kanauj.
- Pala empire extended in other direction also towards Orissa and the Kamarupa

Mahipala I

- Gave second lease of life to the Pala empire
- Brought back northern and western Bengal

Mahipala II

- Revolt of the Samantas succeeded in northern Bengal under the independent rule.
- Successfully regained Pala authority in northern part.

Rampala

- was the last known Pala ruler
- restoring Pala authority in northern Bengal and in demonstrating the Vigour in expansion

Achievement

- gave a stable government
- Established a sound administrative structure
- Religiously tolerable
- Bengal came as a powerful force in north Indian politics

Contribution

- Art and terracotta. (example : the Buddhist vihara architecture)
- Architectural art(somapura mahavihar, largest monastery in the Indian subcontinent, Mahavidhara(largest Buddhist monastery) Vikramasila monastery)
- Contribution in poetic work(the Ramacharitam)

The Sena Dynasty

Rise of the empire

Towards the end of the 12th century A.D, Vijayasena founded the Sena empire. His ancestor hailed from Karnata country of the Deccan, but he emerged in the politics of Bengal as a dominated ruler in west Bengal during the rule of the Pala emperor rampala. During the prtioid of decline of the pala after Rampala, Vijayasena rose into prominence and gradually grabbed power. He defeated the Varman in southeastern Bengal and then rooted up the Palas from Northern and Western Bengal.

Duration

- More than a century
- Five generaion of kings

Religion : Hinduism

Rulers

- Vijayasena(1097-1160)
- Vallalasena(1160-1178)
- Laksmanasena
- Visvarupasena(1160-1178)
- Kesavasena

Vijayasena

- Founder of the Sena empire
- Ousted the Palas and defeated the Varmans

Laksmanasena

- Created five fatnas of the court of Laksmanasena
- Failed to protect southeastern Bengal

Vallalasena

- Attempted to establish Orthodox hindu social order with caste refity.

Achievement of the Sena Dynasty

Whole Bengal came under their rule	Vijayasena rose into prominence and gradually grabbed power after decline of Rampala. Then he defeated the Varmans and Palas and took control of Southeastern northern and western Bengal. By ousting the Varmans and the Palas, they succeeded in bringing the whole of Bengal under one united rule.
Development of Sanskrit literature	the Sena period is significant for the development of Sanskrit literature. By far the most important contribution to the Bengali Sanskrit literature was Gitagovinda of Jayadeva, who was one of the ornaments of the court of Laksmanasena. Laksmanasena, the last ruler of this dynasty repected Sanskrit literature. For instance, he appointed some poet in his court who contributed to develop Sanskrit literature. They were : <table><tr><th>Poets</th><th>Contribution</th></tr><tr><td>Jayadeva</td><td>Gitagovinda</td></tr><tr><td>Dhoyi</td><td>Pavanaduta</td></tr><tr><td>Umapatidhara</td><td>-</td></tr><tr><td>Govardhara</td><td>Arya-sapla-Sati</td></tr><tr><td>Sarana</td><td>-</td></tr></table> About 2370 poems were composed by 485 poets. Bhavadeva Bhatta, Jimutavahana, two great poets are belong to this period.	Poets	Contribution	Jayadeva	Gitagovinda	Dhoyi	Pavanaduta	Umapatidhara	-	Govardhara	Arya-sapla-Sati	Sarana	-
Poets	Contribution
Jayadeva	Gitagovinda
Dhoyi	Pavanaduta
Umapatidhara	-
Govardhara	Arya-sapla-Sati
Sarana	-
Sculpture	The Bengal school of sculpture art reached its high water mark in the Sena period and in this phase its regional character marked by individualistic traits became manifest.

Difference between pala and sena dynasty

Pala Dynasty	Sena Dynasty
18 generation king	5 generation king
Palas were Buddhists	Senas were Hindus
No castle system	Introduced castle system
Ruled 400 years	Ruled more than 100 years
Developed architectural art and practiced sculptural art	Sanskrit literature and sculptural art reached water mark

Ikhtiyar Ud-din Muhammad Bin Bakhtiyar Khalji

Ikhtiyar Ud-din Muhammad Bin Bakhtiyar Khalji was a Turkish military general of Qutb Ud Din Aibak

Ikhtiyar Ud-din was of common birth, had long arms extending below his knees, a short physical status, and an unfavorable countenance. He approached India and tried to enter in the army of Qutb Al din, but was refused rank. Then he took a job under Maklik Hizbar Al Din. Ikhtiyar Ud-din soon consolidated his position by recruiting some fiercely Muslim soldiers under his domain and carried out successful raids into neighboring regions. In 1193, he burned the ancient college city of Nalanda and University of Vikramshila. He attacked Bengal in 1203. As he came upon the city of Nabadwin, it is said that he advanced so rapidly that only eighteen horsemen from his army could keep up. He conquered Nabadwip from the old emperor Laksman Sen.

Career life

- Conquered Bihar after defeating Govindapala
- Invaded Bengal
- Issued a gold coin. It depicted a Turkish cavalryman charging at full gallop and holding a mace
- Captured the city of Naudia
- Established a military outpost at Devkot in the district of Dinajpur. It became the first capital under the Muslim rule in Bengal
- He ruled in modern Malda, Dinajpur, Murshidabad and Bardhaman district

How muslims came in Bangladesh

- Ikhtiyar Ud-din Muhammad Bin Bakhtiyar Khalji conquered Bihar.
- Three years later he invaded Bengal with only 17 cavalry by support of Qutb Ud Din Aibak
- The Hindu king Laksman Sen fled to East Bengal and continued to rule from his Capital Vikrampur.
- The Hindu kings tried to introduce Brahmanical Hinduism but rejected by the people who were accustomed to the classless society of Buddhism. They gradually accepted Islam voluntarily. Then he captured the city of Nadia(now in West Bengal). Thus, the foundation of the Muslim rule was established in Bengal.

Firuj Shah Dynasty

Career

- conquered Sonargaon, Mymensingh, Sylhet with the support of Ghazis
- conquest Sylhet in 1303 with the support of Hazrat Shah Jalal
- founded the city of Firuzabad-Padua, the later capital of Bengal
- Muslim rule extended beyond the Meghna river

Sultan Shams-Ud-Din Ilyas Shah

Career

- Took procession of Satgon, made himself master of Gaur
- Issued coins where he described himself “ the just sultan” and “ the second Alexander, the right hand of the caliphate, the defender of the Commander of the faithful”
- Brought the whole Bengal under his control by annexing Sonargaon in 1352
- Shifted the capital from Lakhnawati to Pauda(now in West Bengal)
- Defeated a number of Hindu rajas in the neighboring region of Champaran, Kathmundu
- Showed his military skill by repelling invasion from Delhi and defeating a number of Hindu rajas

Contribution

- A patron of Bengali language and literature.
- Built the famous Adina mosque in 1375 at Pandua which was considered as the largest mosque ever built in Indian subcontinent
- Art and science flourished
- Commerce in Bengal's textiles and foodstuff was encouraged

Sikandar Shah[Son of Ilyas Shah]

Career

- Encountered an expedition by Delhi Sultan Firuz Tughluq who left Bengal on promise of payment of a nominal tribute

Giyas-Ud-Uin Azam Shah

Career

- Got support from Delhi
- Ruled for 15 years
- Controlled by Delhi(1.Khutba in the name of Delhi ruler 2. Issued a coin)
- Sent large amount of money to the holy place in Hijaz
- Exchange envoys with the Chinese empire
- Invited the famous Persian poet Hafiz to come to his court at Pauda
- Buried near Sonargaon in a beautiful small tomb

Interval(RAJA GANESH)

Jalal Ud Din Muhammad Shah[Son of hindu king Ganesh]

Career

- Converted to Islam seized the throne of Bengal
- Made contribution in contracting a religious institution
- Established relation with the ruler of Egypt
- Got robe of honor and a letter of recognition
- Issued coin from Pauda, Chittagong ,Sonargaon

Husain Shahi Dynasty[Became Bengali king]/the golden age of sultanate of Bengal

Founder(most popular) : Ala-Ud-Din Husain Shah

Important ruler

- Ala-Ud-Din Husain Shah
- Nasir Ud-Din Nusrat Shah
- Mahmud Shah

Ala-Ud-Din Husain Shah

Career

- Extended the boundary of the kingdom
- Incorporated Cooch Bihar, Kamrup, Orissa

Contribution

- Religiously tolerable
The hindus held high offices and much of the land in the country were in their hand
- Built mosque and magnificent building at Gaur and Pauda. Example : Choto Sona Masjid

Nasir Ud-Din Nusrat Shah(most influenced ruler)

Achievement

- Patron of Bengali literature and commemorating to Bengali calender
- Dedicated a bridge with inscription in Bengali , commemoration according to the Bengali calendar
- Built a mosque at Bagha in Rajshahi district and the Qadam Rasul mosque

Sher Shah Sur dynasty[afghan adventure]

Careed

- Defeated Sultan Mahmud Shah
- Defeated the troops of Humayun at the battle of Chausa

Contribution

- Constructed the Grand Trunk Road from Bengal to Peshawar
- Introduced administrative reforms
- Modernized the collection of revenues
- Introduced a postal system by using horses in Bengal for the first time which was known as "Ghorar Daak"

Karrani dynasty

- Paid his allegiance to Mogul emperor Akbar
- Overthrow the Suri dynasty

Daud Karrani|last afgan sultan of Bengal|

- Declared his independence against his authority

Fall of the dynasty

- Akbar himself marched against Daud Karrani as he declared his independence against Akbar
- Akbar left the Bengal campaign to his commander in chief Munim Khan
- Daud Karrani was defeated by the troops of Munim Khan and Raja Todar Mal[emperor of Akbar's finance minister]

Fall of bangal

after the death of Mumin Khan, Khan Jahan, commander of Akbar Khan defeated Daud's troops at the battle of Rajmahal in 1576 and brought Bengal as one of the provinces of the Mughal empire.

Rebellion against Moghul empire the bara bhuiyyan(twelve chieftains) started rebellion against Mughul empire. They denied to pay taxes to Moghul and the moghul and the moghul tried to capture Bengal.

The Bara Bhuyyan were the former governors, zamindars, landlords of the Bengal sultanate. They were led by Isa Khan. They were:

Name	City	Neutralized by
Isa khan	Sonargaon	-
Raja Pratapaditya	Jessore	Islam khan
Kader Rai	Vikrampur	Raja Man Singh
Raja Kandarpanara	Chandradvipa	-

Neutralizing the rebellion

To neutralize the rebellion, Akbar appointed some of his government. They are :

- Raja Man Singh
- Islam Khan Chisti
- Ibrahim Khan

Raja Man Singh

- Dhaka became an important city
- Defeated Daud Khan(son of Isa Khan), Uthman Khan, and killed Kader Rai

Islam Khan Chisti

- Made capital in place of Rajmahal
- Dhaka was named Jahangirnagar
- Killed Uthman Khan(last afgan rebel chieftain)
- Defeated raja Pratapaditya of Jessore and annexed his territory

Ibrahim Khan

- Chieftain not only lost their independence but was actually participated with the Moghul expedition.

Shirajuddaulah

- Last independent nawab of Bengal
- Was defeated at the battle of Palashi

Battle of Palashi

The battle of Palashi was a decisive victory of the British East India company over the Nawab of Bengal. The battle consolidated the company's position in Bengal, which later expanded to cover much of India over next hundred years

Date : 23 june, 1757

Location : palashi, Bengal Subah

Result :

- It established a strong foundation of British East India Company in Bengal and the sun of Bengal independence lay down for 200 years
- It ended the ruling period of independent Nawab and Sultan.

Reason behind the war

- British didn't give gift to Sirajuddaula when he succeeded Alivardi Khan.
- Greed of power of British East India Company
- Frequent breaking laws by British East India Company
- Sirajuddaula didn't get agreed with the prince Shah Suja trade policy. He ordered British East India Company to take permission from him to do business. But the British didn't get bother. So it influenced Nawab to take revenge against British.

Reason behind the Failure:

- Nawab was too young and not so experienced.
- Palace conspiracy
- For heavy rainfall all the arms were damaged

Battle of Buxar:

- After the battle of Palashi Mirzafar became the Nawab of Bengal and had to give huge money for the expenditure.
- The British found out that Mir Zafar was useless and Mir Quasim was elected as Nawab.
- Mir Quasim was Mir Zafar's Son-in-law.
- He wanted to increase vat/tax and the British became angry. Thus battle of Buxar occurred.
- Mughal Emperor Shah Alam II joined forces with Mir Quasim.
- It was the last battle where Bengal Emperors could show real courage on the battle field.
- Mir Qasim was defeated and British supremacy was established.
- After the battle of Buxar the local leaders lost.
- Then Robert Clive got in charge to collect the tax from the mass.
- This started the dual system

Position of the Hindus under the Muslim ruler

- Sultan and nawabs employed hindus to heigh position in the administration of the state. Such as, Murshid Quli Khan the mogul government appointed the high castle Hindus in important position in the administration of the state
- Sirajuddaulah and Alivardi khan trusted their Hindu generals and high-ranking officers.
- Sultan Sikandar Shah patronized the famous poet Chandidas(writer of Shrikrishna Kirtan)
- Many Important Sanskrit works such as Ramayana and Mahabharata were translated into Bengali by Vijaya Pandit and Kavindra Paramesvara. Patronised the writing of the Manasa Vijaya by Vipra Das, the Krishna Mangala and the Padma Purana by Vijaya Gupta
- Sultan Rukn-Ud-Din Barbak shah patronized the writing of Sri Krishna Vijaya by Maladhara Basu
- The Mughal Emperors demonstrated the liberal aspect of Islam and tolerance to other religions

Dual system

Dual System was basically imposed in favor of collecting tax. In this system the company appointed two people to collect the revenue. Those people were selected, one from local people and another from The British East India Company.

Dewan : Those who were selected from local people, known as Dewan. Their only concentration was only collecting revenue.

Subedars: Those who were selected from the British East India Company, known as Subedars. They were designated for controlling administration, judiciary, rules, laws and regulation.

Reason behind introducing dual system:

- Collecting revenue from the local people as well as other countries traders.
- First of all, language problem was the main reason for the British people as they were not habituated with this language and culture
- Man power problem.

Great Bangle famine of 1770

The great Bangle famine was a famine between 1769 and 1773(1176 to 1180 in Bengali calendar) that affected the lower genetic plain of India from Bihar to Bengal region. The famine is estimated to have caused the deaths of up to ten million.

Reason

- Dual system
- Increased the amount of tax(upto five fold)
- Shortfall of crops (1768-69)
- British reserved food

Impact

- Regulating act was introduced (1773)
- One third people died

Permanent settlement

In the permanent settlement act the land become the personal property of the Zaminders. Regarding this act they could sell, donate and also can use the land for other purposes. That was the actually main purpose of Permanent settlement act. This was first introduced by Lord Cornwalli's in 1790 and codified in 1793.

Permanent settlement was the most momentous decision of early colonial period and it was the sysytem of land taxation.Under this law the zamindars were bound to pay taxes and in this way zamindars become the most needed part in colonial control.

The deals were :

- Will not increase the amount of tax in future

- Zamindars (tax collecting rural) were bound to pay their taxes continuously
- If they fail to give the tax, their land would be auctioned off
- Zamindars became the mainstay of local colonial control and extraction

Expectation from the deal

- Zamindars would become improving landlords who invest agricultural development
- Fixing government taxes
- Rising produce prices
- New land under the plough would leave more
- More wealth in the Zamindar's hands
- To boost delta's economy

Reason behind the failure of the deal

- Zamindars lacked government support (for agricultural development, better communication, control of marketing)
- Zamindars forced the peasantry to pay high amount of tax
- Forced tenants to pay contribution to events in the zamindar's family such as marriage, festivals

Sub-infeudation or pottonidari

Zamindars began to distance themselves from agricultural and tax collecting as their income grew. They turned themselves into rentiers and shifted their responsibilities to intermediaries. Bengal's peasants produced so much wealth that these intermediaries were often able to follow the zamindar's example by appointing their own intermediaries. In the way, a multitiered system of leisured tenure-holders developed, all living off the wealth of the land. The system is known as sub-infeudation or pottonidari.

Sunset law

Zaminders were bound to pay taxes to the British before the sunset on the last day of Bengali year. Otherwise they had to lose their lands

Reason why permanent settlement was a system with momentous consequences

Started sub-infeudation idea.	Which is mostly developed in what is now southern Bangladesh. For example, in the district of Barisal you had to cut through five or seven layers of intermediate tenures to get to the tiller of the soil
Denied the peasantry any property right	Previously, there had been complex and locally variable bundle of property rights vested in both peasant producers and land lords. Now, these rights were granted only to the landlords who could freely sell, mortgage, or gift their land.

The composition of the zamindari gentry changed.	Whereas Muslims had dominated during the reclamation of the eastern delta in the Mughal period, the colonial saw an advance of Hindu landlords.

Cash crops

Crops

- Opium
- Indigo
- Tea
- Silk
- Jute

Importance of cash crops

- It forged new ties between Bengal's rural economy and European and Asian market
- Fundamental effects on delta's economy
- Led to a new regional specialization of the Bengal economy

New institution of rule

- Dropped Persian(the Mughal language of rule) as the state's official language(1830)
- Taught English language to Bengali elite people for employment at the lower and middle levels of the colonial system
- Two modern universities were set up in Kolkata(1857) and Dhaka(1921)
- Changes in health
- Roads, bridge and railway made transport in the Bengal delta
- Technological advantages such as telegraph, radio made it easier to spread information

The rise of Kolkata

- Became the capital of colonial Bengal
- Government of India resided
- Emerged as its commercial and economic hub
- Valuable cash crops such as opium were transshipped in its port and jute from the field of eastern Bengal

- A network of railway lines began to radiate from Kolkata to speed up the transport of goods from the hinterland

Colonial conflicts

name	Leader's name
Fakir Sannaysi Resistance	• Fakir majnu Shah • Bhabani pathak
Tariqh-i-Muhammadiyah	• Titumir
Faraizi movement	• Haji Shariatullah • Dudu Mia
Santal rebellion
The Mutiny(the first war of independence , 1857)

Anti-British Movement

Fakir-Sannaysi Movement

Started and ended: 1760,continued for upto more than 4 decades

Leader: Majnu Shah

Reason: 1. Muslim fakirs and hindu sannayasis were dominated by british
2. banning of collecting alms

Mechanism:

- gathered momentum in 1763(main target to company kuthi)
- in 1770 number rose to 50000
- in 1786 Mabju Shah lost large number of follwers
- gradually lose it's direction for lacking of leadership

Titu mir

Started and ended: 1783-1831

Leader: Sayed Mir Nasir Ali

Reason:

- unislamic practices

- foreign domination
- imposing illegal taxes on muslim

Mechanism:

- formed a Mujahid force
- trained them in lathi and indigenous arm
- built strong bamboo fort at Markel Baria
- beated Titu Mir by advanced army,1831

Faraizee Andolon

Started and ended: 1818 and slowly continued after death Dudu Mia

Leader:Hazi Shariatullah

Reason:

- To follow true pillars of Islam(muslim were not even following fundamentals of Islam)
- historical reason → Muslims of Bengal were involved with many indigenous customs rituals and ceremonies which had no connection with Islam
- British rule was injurious to the religious life of the muslim
- Dominated by hindu zamiders and European indigo planters
- Paying illegal tax on some religious events(Kali puja,Durga puja)
- Banning of Eid-ul-Azha

Mechanism:

- Many muslim did not accepted this activity
- Landlords of Dhaka gave shelter
- It devoloped into socio-economic program (through continuous involment with hindu landlords and European indigo platers)_by dudu miya
- British started took some steps againts this movement in 1837
- Shariatullah was imprisoned for 1 year
- After death of Shariatullah, dudu miya took the leadership and fazaizee movement somehow continued

Santal Rebellion

Started and ended: 1855-56

Leader: Birsingh

Reason:

- Force them to leave their residence

Mechanism:

- The actual rebellion started when Ram singh was captured and summoned to the kachari
- He was beaten and imprisoned in chain in presence of his followers
- The santal took oath touching xal tree(they took it as symbol of unity and strength)
- They used the technique of gerila fighting
- Defeat the military expedition under major burroughs (which was encouraged them to become more aggressive)
- Martial art declared by british in 19th July,1855
- 3 troops were sent
- Santal rebellion end

To stop uprising on the part of Santal, large number of moiras and dikus were settled in the Rajmahal hills with proprietary rights

Indigo Resistance Movement

Started and ended: 1859-62

Leader:

Reason:

- Forced the cultivators to produce indigo for world market

Mechanism:

Building public opinion:

- Drama: Nil-darpan(1860,mirror of indigo)
- Newspaper comments of Kishori Chandra Mitra and Harishchandra Mukherjee

Swadeshi Movement

‘Risen from the partition of Bengal’

‘Most successful act of pre-Gandhian movement’

Started and ended: 1905-08

Mechanism:

- Using moderate methods(press campaigns,meetings and petitions,big conference in calcutta town hall)
- Many new techniques/forms(boycott of British goods,rakhi bandhan,arandhan)
- Two main part that can be identify
 1. constructive swadeshi
 2. political extremism

- Boycotting the British goods was the main weapon to make Swadeshi movement successful
- Rising of Samiti (another achievement)

Some important faces of Swadeshi movement:

- Sir Aurobindo Ghosh
- Surendranath Banerjea
- Ashwin Kumar Dutta
- Rabindranath Tagor
- Lal, Bal, Pal (3 persons)

Division in 1905 (1st partition of Bengal)

Who did it and when?

October 16, 1905 by Lord Curzon (Proposal_1903)

In 1905, the British divided the huge province of Bengal into a western part (Bengal) and an eastern part (eastern Bengal and Assam). This is called the division in 1905

Reasons

Administrative reason	The province was spread over a huge area which was too vast to manage by one government. The government could not make a tour for the whole province due to its vastness. For example, the British government failed to send relief to the affected people during the great famine in Orissa in 1866
Economic	The people of eastern Bengal had to go to Kolkata for different purposes. So, the British authority thought that, if they could divide the province and make Dhaka as the capital of eastern part, it would help them to develop their economic condition. For example, the Chittagong port would export and import cash crops which would develop business of Eastern Bengal. Desired to promote the development of backward Assam was another economic reason
Social	The people of Kolkata used to dominate the people of eastern Bengal. So the British wanted to remove this discrimination by developing eastern Bengal. In addition, British wanted to unite the abandoned sections of the Urdu speaking people
Political reason (real reason)	The British thought if they could break the united Bengal, they could break the unity of Bengali people.

Muslim's response

It received a favorable response from the Muslims. It was thought that it would bring the emancipation of Muslims socially and economically. The Muslims welcomed the partition of Bengal for the following reasons:

- In the majority province of east Bengal the Muslims would be free from Hindu dominance in economic field. They would get opportunities of services and advancement agriculture
- The city of Dhaka where the Muslim were in majority was the centre of Muslim culture. In Dhaka Muslim had a great chance of success for social and cultural advantage than in Calcutta.
- The partition could result in political uplift and securing represent action in the government.
- The partition of Bengal relieved the Muslims from competing with Hindus , who were more advanced in every field of life

Hindu's response

The Hindu did not accept it, as it death a telling blow to their monopolies and exclusive hold on economic, social, political life of the whole of Bengal. They called it as a deliberate attempt by British government.

- The partition of Bengal had brightened possibility of betterment of Muslim; while the Hindu landlords, capitalistic and traders wanted status quo and to continue the exploitation of the Muslims
- Hindu lawyers also reacted to this partition of Bengal because they thought that the new province would have its separate courts and thus their practice would be affected
- Hindu press was not different from that of Hindu advocates. Hindu had their monopoly over almost whole of the province press. They were afraid that new newspaper would be established which would decrease their income
- The Hindu launched Swadeshi movement whose intention was to boycott of British goods.

Swadeshi movement

It entitled a boycott of British goods, education and administration and advocated self help in the form of establishing India-own industries, reviving handloom and craft production, setting up national schools and developing village improvement scheme.

Political assassination

- First developed in revolutionary youth groups
- Used public display of violence against high ranking British individuals.
- The camping proved highly successful

- ✓ Some of the revolutionary heroes were
 - Khudiram Basu
 - Mastarda Surya Sen
 - Pritilata Waddadar

Result

- Muslim League was found
- Protest of Hindus and other royal classes lead the British to annul the partition

Cancellation of the partition-

- After the 1st partition of Bengal the Hindus celebrated National Mourn Day in disrespect to the partition
- Then the Hindu decided to form Rakhi Bandhan and Ganpoti puja celebration to show the brotherhood among them
- The Hindu leaders of that time tried to shift the movement of Swadeshi Andalan to Bangavanga in order to show the protest against the partition.
- After that The Hindu people started Guerrilla attack to the British and those attracts were conducted by their Guerrilla organization named "Jugantor".
- Then 1911, The British King George V and the Hindu leader from Indian National Congress convince the lord Curzon to cancel the amended of Bangavanga.

reasons of 1911 Annulment

- Hindus opposed it
- Royal classes like Jaminders, Lawyers, Businessmen and also the news agencies went against it
- Majority of the elite Hindus wanted the annulment and it was safe to Britain to be in their favor

Reasons of 1943 famine

- World War II
- Disruption of food supply from Burma
- Destruction of 60,000 boats by the British army
- Selling reserved food at high price rate by the British

KPP party

AK Fazlul Haque found that Congress and Muslim League are dominated by elite Hindus and Muslims. Common people were depriving of their opportunity of politics. So, he formed Krishok –Proja Party for the common lower class people which quickly became popular. His tagline was Daal-Bhat for all" which was very catchy.

Lahore Resolution / Two Nation Theory

In 1940 Mohammed Ali Jinnah called a general session of all India Muslim League in Lahore to discuss the situation that had arisen due to the outbreak of second World war and the government of India joining the war without taking the opinion of Indian leaders and also to analyze the reason behind the defeat of Muslim league in general election of 1937 in the Muslim Majority province. A.K. Fazlul Haque arrived Lahore on 22nd march and he formally discussed the Lahore Resolution that run as follows:-

There will be two nation based on religion one for Muslim and other for Hindu. The areas where the Muslims are numerically in a majority as in the Northwestern and Eastern zones of India should be grouped to constitute 'Independent States' in which the constituent units shall be autonomous and sovereign.

This Lahore Resolution was espoused by Mohammed Ali Jinnah. This is known as two Nation Theory

Reason why Pakistan was very special state

Key points	Description
Founded upon religious nationalism	Pakistan was the first country who founded their country based on religion. The only other modern example of religiously based nation-state being Israel.
Pakistan was a state administreating two discrete territories	The east Pakistan and the west Pakistan were separated from each other by about 1500 km of Indian territory.
Pakistan did not become heir to any of the colony's central state institution

Language movement

Key point	Description
Declared Urdu as the state language in 1947	The Pakistan educational conference of November 1947 proposed urdu as the national language, a suggestion that was opposed by representatives from east Pakistan. A few months later an east Pakistan member of the constituent assembly tables an amendment to allow the Bengali language to be used in the assembly alongside Urdu.
Formation of first language action	When student in east Pakistan came to know about the plan to make Urdu the national language, they held meeting and demonstrations and then formed the first Language Action committee in December 1947	Committee in December 1947. Things came to a head in march 1948 when general strikes were observed in east Pakistan's town and the movement's leaders were arrested and injured. Muhammad Ali Jinnah government general of Pakistan at the time, visited Dhaka for a few days later. Addressing a large audience, he stated that the state language of Pakistan is going to be Urdu and no other language. He also added that anyone who would deny Urdu as the state language of Pakistan, will be considered as the enemy of Pakistan.

Declaration of Urdu as the state language of Pakistan by Khwaja Nazimuddin	When the new prime minister of Pakistan Khwaja Nazimuddin, came to Dhaka and announced that the people of east Pakistan could decide what would be the provincial language but only Urdu would be Pakistan's state language, there were a very angry reaction. Students responded with the slogan We demand Bangali as a national language!. Dhaka university went on strike and a number of organizations called a protest meeting, chaired by Maulana Abdul Hamid Khan Bhashani. The meeting sharply denounced the decision to make Urdu the state language and also rejected a government plan to introduce Arabic script for written Bengal. It decided to call a general strike or hortal and demonstrations throughout East Pakistan on 21 February 1952.
21st February: a black day	The government imposed a ban in these demonstrations in Dhaka, and although some organizers hesitated to violate it, many students were determined to preserve. Thousand of boys and girls from school and college all over Dhaka assembled on the campus of Dhaka university together with university students. They then started marching and shouting slogans. As soon as they passed the campus gates armed policeman baton-charged them. The students retaliated by throwing bricks, upon which the police used tear gas and then fired into the crowd. Many were injured, five people, including a nine year old boy were killed. Over the next few days more demonstrations, killing and arrests occurred, and a memorial was hastily erected on the spot where the first killing had taken place.
Removal of the memorial	This memorial was removed by the authorities and recreated several time before it was replaced by a concrete monument, the Martyrs' memorial or sohid minar in 1962.

1954 election

Candidates :

- Muslim league
- Jukta Front

Jukta Front

in a pre electoral strategy to draw maximum support from the people and find strength in unity , the opponents of the Muslim League formed a powerful alliance which effected far reaching political changes. The ensuring Jukta Front or United front.

Partners of Jukta Front

- Krishak Sramik party
- Ganatantri Dal
- Nizam-i-Islami
- Several leftist groups

Leaders

- Suhrawardy
- Bhasani
- Fazlul Huq
- Sheikh Mujib
-

Ingredients of the Jukta Front : 21-point programme21 point programme

It was the unyielding manifestation of the Bengali plank for politics, were the unyielding manifestation of the Bengali plank for political autonomy under a federal structure and the rejection of west Pakistani domination.

Result of the election: Jukta Front won. Muslim League returned only ten seats.

Conspiracy

The United front ministry got entangled with Karachi on the issue of constitution and autonomy of east Bengal. Within six weeks of his assumption of office Fazlul Haq was abruptly removed from his office on charges of treason and conspiracy to bring about the secession of East Bengal from the state of Pakistan. The ministry was also accused of failure to maintain law and order. This arbitrary interference of the centre in replacing the elected government by governor's ruler under a total bureaucratic control was intended by the power elite to disintegrate the united front, faction and interests in the front were awkwardly counterpoised against each other with promises of power and other advantages.

1956 constitution

Date : March 26, 1956

Features

- Recognized Bengali as one of the two state language
- Granted a dose of provincial(local) autonomy(independence) to placate(calm down) East Pakistan
- Deferred any decision on the introduction of separate electorate
- Pakistan became an Islamic republic country

Supported leaders : Suhrawardy

Leaders who opposed :

The left wingers of the party, with other numbering 22, not only refused to sign it but walked out of the assembly protesting the Islamic nomenclature of the constitution.

Result

- Awami League assumed power both in East Bengal and at the centre
- Suhrawardy became the prime minister

- Ataur Rahman Khan of the Awami League formed a coalition ministry in East Bengal
- East Bengal gained some access to Pakistan's power structure

Basic democracy

The basic definition of BDO is to elect president and there will be 40000 people from the East Pakistan and 40000 people from West Pakistan will be elected by the local people and this 80000 people will elect the president of Pakistan.

Introducer : Ayub Khan

Expectation

- The system would mobilize the masses of the people
And give them a sense of active participation in local affair
- The system would localize politics and diminish interest in national politics leading to political fragmentation and gradual elimination in national leadership.
- The system was designed to exclude party politics and bypass its urban base

Six point demand

The six point demands were introduced by Sheikh Mujibur Rahman in 1966 in order to save the Bangali from the absorption and governance of East Pakistan. The aim of Sheikh Mujibur Rahman was to save the East Pakistan from the discrimination of West Pakistan. Sheikh Mujibur Rahman rose his voice for the six point demand after the Indo-Pakistan war as the West Pakistan didn't aware about the security and sovereignty of East Pakistan. In 1966, the leader of the opposition party arranged a conference and the top leader of Awami League came to Lahor along with Sheikh Mujibur Rahman. At that conference, SMR told about the six point

The demands of six points

- a federal parliamentary system of government elected by direct federal parliamentary system of government elected by direct universal adult suffrage with legislative (governmental) representation on the basis of population
- The federal government to be responsible only for foreign affairs and defence
- Freely convertible separate currencies for each wing(east and west Pakistan)
- Power of taxation and revenue of collection to be vested in the provinces with guarantees of adequate funding for the federal government
- separate foreign exchange accounts for each wing
- each wing to rise and maintain a militia

How six point demand influenced liberation war

Key point	description
Public opinion	Sheikh Mujibur Rahman gave his valuable speech in different place in order to rise the voice for six point demand from mass people. As he could convince the people of East Pakistan, the six point demand became very popular at that time
Conspiracy of Ayub government	As the six point demand gradually became very popular among the mass people, the Ayub government wanted to neutralize the revolution. So they started to imprison the top leader of Awami League. Moreover, he came to East Pakistan and tried to prove the six point as a rebellion against the state of Pakistan.
Imprison of Sheikh Mujibur Rahman	As West Pakistan government failed to eliminate the demand of six point, they arrested Sheikh Mujibur Rahman on 9 th may, 1966. As a result, the mess people of East Pakistan called of strike all over the country and caused several people death.
Walkout of provincial council	As several people were killed during strike, the provincial government walkout their activity.
Agartala conspiracy	Sheikh Mujibur Rahman were arrested in the conspiracy case but he was released after the mass rising of East Pakistan in 1969
1970 election	In the election of 1970, the six point demand got the most popularity but the Pakistan government didn't let the demands to be actualized.
conclusion	After this entire incident, the West Pakistan didn't let the demands to be actualized. So the Bengali people moved for liberation war. This is how the six point demands influenced in liberation war.

The Agartala conspiracy

The Agartala conspiracy case was instituted in January 1968 and total 28 persons were arrested in this conspiracy case which included 6 Bengali civil servants and military personnel. Sheikh Mujib was already in prison and he was charged with master minding conspiracy. In the trail of the case government side they brought the charge of high treason for involvement in secessionist conspiracy with India but at the end the tribunal couldn't establish their claim. Then in 1969, 22 January Sheikh Mujib and other opposition leaders got released from the case due to the mass upsurge.

[tui to fail korbi]

Legal framework order on march 30, 1970 Yahya unilaterally promulgated a legal framework order outlining the transitional arrangements for the election rules of procedures for the national assembly and certain provisions to be incorporated in the constitution.

Features

- Envisioned a federation of constituent provinces and territories and ensured that the unity of the federation is not any way impaired.

- Adhered to the fundamental principles of democracy by providing direct and free periodical election to the federal and provincial legislatures on the basis of population and adult franchise.
- Within a specified period economic and all other disparities between the provinces and between different areas in a province were to be removed by the adoption of statutory (legal) and other measures.
- The order left no scope for secularization of the state. It read Pakistan shall be an Islamic republic

Government –in-exile

Date : 17 April

Aim : Sound management of liberation war

Place : Mujibnagar(Baddayanattala)

The Government-in-exile were built with a declaration of independence, the constituent assembly proclaimed the sovereignty of Bangladesh, electing Sheikh Mujibur Rahman as president and Syed Nazrul Islam as Vice-President

Leaders

Name	Position
Sheikh Mujibur Rahman	president
Syed Nazrul Islam	Vice-President
Tajuddin Ahmed	Prime Minister
Khandokar Mushtaq	Minister in charge of foreign affair

- ❖ According to the term of the declaration, the vice president was empowered to act as president of Bangladesh in the absence of Sheikh Mujib.

Teliapara Document:

Approved by:	Bangladesh Government-in-exile as well as by Indian staff officers.
Leaded by:	• Mjaor Safiullah • Major Khaled Musharraf • Colonel Usmani
Strategies:	• A large guerrilla force would be raised and trained. The task of this force would be to liquidate (pay a debt) collaborators of the Pakistan army, destroy communication lines to immobilise the Pakistan force, and engage in “hit and run” operations against convoys and isolated posts of the Pakistan forces to create preparation tension for them. • The regular units of the Mukti Bahini would be enlarged, divided into sector troops, and placed in different areas to give cover to guerrilla operation. • The best material among the regular units of the Mukti Bahini and guerrillas would be recruited to form a regular force which would launch full scale direct attack on the Pakistan army strongholds once guerrillas and sector troops had demoralised them and cut off their lines of logistic support.

Pakistani soldiers' favorite target:	Young educated men.
Who joined the camps?	School, college and university students especially those living border areas, crossed into India.
How many volunteers?	More than 250,000 for training.
Who led the camps?	Awami league MNAs and MPAs with the help of officers of the Bangladesh-in-exile.

- ❖ The Indian government's decision to help the Bangladesh liberation struggle was conditional on its being led by the Awami League, whose general ideological position was similar to that of Indian's ruling congress party.

Sector and the leader's name

Sector name	Area	Comander
One	Chittagong to Feni river	1 st : Major Ziaur Rahman 2 nd : Major M. Rafiq
Two	Noakhali, Comilla(Akhaura to voirob rail station), Faridpur and Dhaka	1 st : Major Khaled Musharraf 2 nd : Major M. Haider
Three	Sylhet division(Mohokuma, Kishorgonj, Akhaura-Voirob	1 st : Major Shafiullah 2 nd : Major Mohammad Nuruzzaman*
Four		Major Chittaranjan Dutta
Five		Major Mir Shakawat Ali
Six		Wing Commander M.K. Bashar
Seven		Major Nuruzzaman*
Eight		1 st : Major Osman Chowdhury 2 nd : Lieutenant-Colonel Mohammad Manzur
Nine		Major M.A. Jalil
Ten		Major Joinal Abedin
Eleven		Major Abu Taher

Three brigade forces:

Name	Led by
Z force	Major Ziaur Rahman
K force	Khaled Musharraf
S force	M. Shafiullah

MujibBahini:

Training by	Indian Army
leaders	• Tofael Ahmed • Sheikh Fazlul Huq Moni • Serajul Alam Khan • Abdur Razzak
Training place	Dehra Dun (in Uttar Pradesh) and Haphlong (in Assam)
Training period	45 Days
Political Course	Mujibism*
Communication System	They have own wireless system and special code for communication maintained a separate existence outside the command of Bangladesh Government-in-exile and Mukti Bahini.

Mujibism: Projected as SeikhMujibur Rahman's ideas on nationalism, secularism, socialism and democracy.

KaderiaBahini:

leader	Abdul Kader Siddiqui
Reason	When a column of the Pakistan Army moved towards Mymensingh, an EPR-led force put up resistance unsuccessfully near Kalahati. Kader who had participated in the Kalahati battel with a few friends, then moved around in rural areas and began to collect arms and to organize a resistance force. In the meantime, the young man of Tangail, who were special targets of the Pakistan forces, began to pour into Mohammadpur. It was the pressure of these young men flocking to Mohammadpur that encouraged Kader further; he began to build a large force in a planned manner.
Shelter taken at	A jungle terrain between MadhupurGhar and BhawalGhar
Achivements	#Killed 16 Pakistan soldiers by making a surprise attack on a Pakistan outpost. #Attacked a Pakistan boat, carrying a large number of arms and ammunition to North Bengal, with sten-guns, light machine-guns and mortars. 100 soldiers on boat were killed.
Communication System	Kader established contact with the government-in-exile and the Indian Army and received some wireless sets.
Specialties	Most of the members were school and college students of the age-group 14-24. The majority of the 95 company commandars of the Kaderia Bahini were college stidents in the age-group 20-24

Why Indian government agreed to participate in liberation war?

Key points	Details
------------	---------

* Could never go back * Preventing riot * Refugees crisis	Unless Bangladesh became an independent sovereign state, the evacuees could never go to their back home. If the evacuees were to stay permanently in India, it would have been difficult for the Indian government to prevent serious communal riots between Hindus and Muslims in Eastern India. In Assam and Tripura, where tension between Bengalis and non-Bengalis had long existed, fresh settlements of refugees would probably have renewed the movement of “Bengali Kheda” on a massive scale.
---	--

Why so serious?